PROGRAMME

- 18h30      WELCOME AND INTRODUCTION BY THE CHAIR & MODERATOR
- Peter KOUROUMBASHEV, MEP (S&D, Bulgaria), Industry, Research & Energy Committee
- 18h35      TECHNOLOGY, SOCIETY, OPPORTUNITY – AN INDUSTRY VISION FOR 2030
- In the next ten years, technological innovation will create change at a pace never seen before – opening up immense opportunities for Europe: leading the global response to climate change, the EU will pave the way for an age beyond carbon; technology-led transformation will breathe new life into the economy and re-invent the nature of work; progress in medical tech and assisted living systems will allow us to get more out of life than ever before; cities will tackle the scourges of congestion and pollution; and we will show that social, environmental and economic sustainability can go hand in hand with renewed competitiveness and more and better jobs
- KEYNOTE INTRODUCTION AND STRATEGIC DIALOGUE
- Jyrki KATAINEN, European Commission Vice-President for Jobs, Growth, Investment & Competitiveness
  - Malte LOHAN, Director General, Orgalim - Europe's technology industries
- 19h00      ROUNDTABLE – EMBRACING THE TRANSFORMATION DRIVEN BY DIGITAL INNOVATION
- Digitalisation and data are fueling the innovation-led transformation not only of industry but of the EU's economy and society as a whole. Embracing this change and taking steps to broaden and accelerate the transformation, can deliver new business models, new jobs and new products and services. The Juncker Commission mandate has made progress on important legislative questions, yet many policy issues remain to be solved. This panel will discuss where we stand, where we want to go, and the pragmatic steps to get there.

TRANSFORMING SOCIETAL CHALLENGES INTO FUTURE DRIVERS OF PROSPERITY

From the clean energy transition, climate change and resource efficiency to the future of mobility and demographic change, the EU will over the coming years deploy new policies to address the major societal challenges of our time. With the right policies in place, the EU can transform these challenges into drivers of growth by helping our industries maintain a global edge, driving prosperity at home and worldwide. We will discuss which are the necessary policy decisions that will set Europe on the right path for the coming decade.
